HISTORY

The 15,000-square-meter Etten-Leur, Netherlands facility was constructed in 1988 and substantially expanded in 1991. It includes 4,000 square meters of manufacturing space and 7,000 square meters of modern warehouse.

The team in Etten-Leur is known for the design and production of custom and stock polyethylene terephthalate (PET) containers for the food and beverage, nutritional supplement, personal care and OTC markets. In addition to virgin PET material, we are able to manufacture containers from recycled material (R-PET), including certified prevented ocean plastic resin. The Etten-Leur facility serves both direct customers and a network of container distributors in Europe. We are partners to over 250 customers in 27 countries.

CAPABILITIES

Our state-of-the-art automated manufacturing facility in Etten-Leur runs 24/7, enabling us to produce more than 350 million containers annually on 33 Aoki ISBM machines. In addition to offering the highest grades of virgin PET resin, it is also possible to incorporate 30%, 50% or 100% R-PET. Next to the standard R-PET, we also supply products made of certified R-PET from Prevented Ocean Plastic™ (POP).

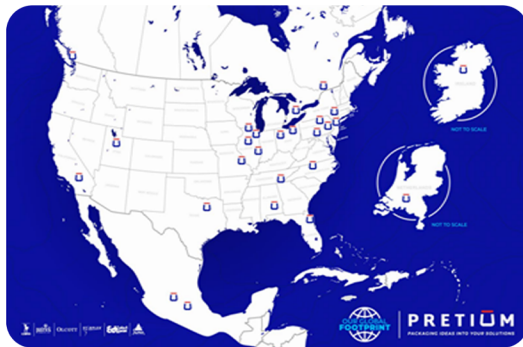

Many years of experience and a high level of knowledge guarantee a high standard in all the packaging we produce. Our facility has earned the BRC IOP certificate for adherence to standards.

New technologies at the Etten-Leur facility include hot-fill PET containers that withstand filling temperatures up to 85° C. We also have new 2-stage (reheat and blow) assets which can be used to make lighter-weight bottles.

New product development is supported by Pretium's innovation centers and a dedicated sustainability team. We expedite your speed to market and get you ahead of your competition.
